

Introduction

SCP Concrete Sealing Technology Limited or SCP as referred to within the trade, was formally trading as Schlegel Engineering Products Limited until a management buy out some 12 years ago and has been trading for over 30 years. The Company has always focused on engineering systems for waterproofing solutions below and above ground. Many of the current techniques employed on sites today, originated from these two companies. Even today new ideas are being explored that will revolutionise the way we waterproof structures in the future.

SCP distributors are based throughout the UK and the Middle East. SCP has a team of experienced sales personnel working with our distributors, to advise architects, structural engineers, water engineers, and civil contractors, of the benefits to them and their clients of installing SCP Waterproofing Products.

SCP has built up an enviable reputation of only promoting quality products, and is supported in this endeavour by having BBA and WRAS approved certification where necessary. SCP has a technical department that is constantly testing out new ideas, and indeed modifying products to adapt to our changing environment.

SCP is dedicated to promoting the Dual Seal Waterproofing System, as it is the front-runner in an entirely new generation of Bentonite self-healing waterproofing membrane systems. Extensively used and tested throughout the world, and is currently protecting many of the UK's most prestigious projects, where the highest standard of tanking ensures absolutely no ingress of water. The Millennium Stadium in Cardiff is one such project, but we have lists of projects both large and small. Our range of products include waterstops both PVC and Hydrophilic, waterproofing membranes, protection boards, expansion filler-boards, sealants, crack-inducers, damp proof courses, wall & floor drainage membranes, gas barrier membranes, and many concrete related accessories. A catalogue with full details is available upon request.
